Founded in 1972, Interior Designers of Canada (IDC) is the national advocacy association for the interior design profession in Canada with a mandate to provide a unified voice to advance and promote the Canadian interior design industry locally, nationally, and internationally.

With this goal in mind, IDC provides valuable and quality professional development opportunities, educates the public about the importance of hiring qualified interior designers and advocates on behalf of members to promote understanding of the interior design profession.

In total, IDC represents more than 5,000 fully qualified interior designers, interns, students, educators, and retired members. IDC members work globally in all areas of design, including corporate/commercial, institutional, retail, hospitality, healthcare, and residential. In addition, nearly 200 manufacturers and suppliers, who support the work of interior design professionals, are members of IDC.

It has been an exciting and challenging year for all of us at IDC, and across the country, given the global predicament of COVID-19. Even though we could not be together for much of the ambitious programming we set out to deliver, the virtual world brought us together in so many ways.

It is an absolute honour to have served as your president for the 2019-2020 Board of Management. The interior design community in Canada has proven once again the power of community and hopeful resilience in a time of great upheaval.

The decision to cancel this year’s Design Symposium did not come lightly, but our world changed so fast in those early spring days. I am truly grateful that we have such an engaged community of members across the country and knowing that we had to postpone our biggest event of the year was announced with a heavy heart.

But we stride on and invent new ways to connect, learn together, and celebrate our successes. All of us at IDC are humbled by the enormous response to call to action when we needed your help, your participation in our virtual events, and your commitment to support each other and your national association – every small gesture makes our interior design community stronger.

From all of us at IDC – thank you! Thank you for showing up, stepping up, and continuing to showcase what an incredible organization we continue to build together.

I would like to take this opportunity to acknowledge the hard work of IDC’s small team of staff and especially my colleagues on IDC’s Board of Management, an incredible group of passionate and immensely talented interior design leaders who care deeply about the future of the profession.

I wish your incoming IDC president nothing but success, and I look forward to continuing to work with our membership in launching the many initiatives and projects IDC has in store.

Sincerely,

Carol Jones
President, IDC Board of Management
It is an immense honour to take on the CEO post at IDC, an organization to which I belonged for so many years, in volunteer roles and as a participant and cheerleader at events with all of our members across the country. I am honoured and humbled by the enthusiasm of our membership that was seen through such difficult times during the onset of the COVID-19 pandemic and am excited for things to come at IDC.

No matter the challenges, IDC’s team and the village of volunteers, staff, and committee members were able to continue to celebrate our members’ achievements through sourcing resources for CEU delivery via webinars, showcasing projects, sharing members’ personal stories, and finding ways to connect with members coast to coast when that connection was so incredibly important.

I, along with IDC’s team, am amazed by the immense talent, innovation, and collaboration of our members, and the willingness of this tight-knit community to come together and offer a helping hand. This is the kind of community and professional organization we want to nurture and keep building.

I want to thank IDC’s outgoing CEO, Tony Brenders, for his leadership during these transitional years at the organization, and for helping to put IDC members centre stage, on a national platform with IDC’s Design Symposium. Last year’s event, which was only our second one, was held in beautiful Vancouver, B.C. and brought so many amazing speakers, designers, manufacturers, sponsors, educators, interns, and students together – to share ideas, learn together, and move the industry forward.

In the coming weeks and months, I look forward to bridging the gaps with our provincial associations, and hopefully connecting with many of you in person soon. We will continue to tell the amazing stories of our members, to share your work, and celebrate your successes, and ultimately bring awareness of the importance of interior design in our daily lives, in Canada and across the globe.

I want to thank the IDC Board of Management, a group of talented interior designers and industry representatives, who work tirelessly to meet the challenges of IDC members and our industry. Your efforts do not go unnoticed.

A special thanks to our incredibly dedicated, innovative, and resilient IDC team that continues to deliver great results for IDC’s members across the country.

And finally, the biggest thank you to all our members – for your continuous support, input, and engagement with your national association. You are the glue that keeps this amazing community together.

Sincerely,

Trevor Kruse
Chief Executive Officer, IDC

AWARDS & BURSARIES

IDC offers multiple scholarships and bursaries to interior design professionals in all levels of their career.

The Robert Ledingham Scholarship – awarded to one or more candidates who have recently been accepted, or who are currently enrolled (within their first year of study) in graduate school at the master’s or doctorate level.

Bob’s Your Uncle Bursary – awarded to one or more emerging professionals who, for reasons of financial hardship, are unable to join their provincial interior design association as an Intern/Provisional member.

Wayne Thomson Bursary – awarded to one or more candidates under financial hardship who have recently completed the IDFX, IDPX and are eligible for or have completed the practicum for the NCIDQ.

Value of Design Awards (VODA) student competition – recognizes student projects that outline the design process, challenges, research and business drivers, the inspiration for the direction, steps for implementation, and benefit to the client.
MEMBER BENEFITS

Members have a voice at IDC! Membership provides access to many benefits such as job opportunities through our Career Centre, exclusive deals and discounts on insurance rates, auto rentals, education seminars and webinars (CEUs), industry research, advocacy tools, annual awards and scholarships, events and networking, weekly industry news and updates, and promotion on IDC’s social media channels.

PRESIDENT’S WEBINARS

IDC hosts a monthly President’s Webinars series, which started in November 2017. The webinars are a great way for members to engage with their national association and IDC’s president and staff. These sessions provide timely updates on topics such as membership renewal, advocacy activities, announcements about new programs, applications and deadlines for awards, trade missions, and event participation.

All webinars are recorded and posted on IDC’s website, and the sessions are approved for one non-IDCEC hour.

MEMBER BENEFITS AT A GLANCE

- Online access to job opportunities through Career Centre
- Exclusive deals and discounts on insurance rates, auto rentals, and more
- Subscription to North American I+D magazine
- Education seminars and webinars (CEUs)
- Access to industry research and reports
- Advocacy tools to help you succeed
- Annual awards and scholarships
- Access to events and networking
- Weekly industry news and updates
- Promotion on IDC’s social media channels

PROFESSIONAL DEVELOPMENT

Interior designers are required to fulfill professional development requirements in order to remain members in good standing with their provincial association, which is facilitated through the Interior Design Continuing Education Council (IDCEC). IDC offers continuing education opportunities to members across Canada to help members fulfill their continuing education requirements and keep up to date on current industry regulations, business practices, and trends.

IDC pays annual membership dues to IDCEC on behalf of IDC members in order for members to track and manage earned credits without further cost.

This year, to bring members together virtually and ensure full benefits of membership, IDC introduced a weekly series of IDCEC-approved webinars relevant to the interior design profession and practice.

11 webinars presented to members
659 total webinar attendees
INDUSTRY SALES PROFESSIONALS

IDC offers a custom course, tailored exclusively to meet the needs of architecture and design industry sales professionals. The practical course features Q&A sessions with panels of registered interior designers and architects, drawn from boutique and large design firms serving the retail, commercial, healthcare, hospitality, and residential sectors. The formal exchanges offer an opportunity for leading designers to deliver helpful tips on how their studios operate as well as how to join their network of trusted industry resources.

Two courses were held this year in Toronto, Ont. and Vancouver, B.C., each in 2019 and 2020.

INDUSTRY PARTNER BENEFITS

In response to the changing nature of global events, IDC remains committed to playing a constructive role in supporting interior designers and advocating for the interior design profession.

IDC has taken various actions and implemented new programs to ensure that members are still able to benefit from their IDC membership to the fullest. This includes offering adjusted packages for Industry Partners to offer improved benefits which fit an online focused industry in lieu of in-person events.

i+D MAGAZINE

In 2017, IDC partnered with the American Society of Interior Designers to create i+D magazine, a North American publication that dives deep into stories that reflect today’s changing landscape and innovations in design and shows the significant, positive contributions of interior designers on the future of the built environment. The magazine regularly publishes works of Canadian designers and IDC initiatives and invites members to share their ideas and feedback on innovative topics in the design industry.

VISION, MISSION, VALUES AND GOALS

The IDC Strategic Plan, which was updated in early 2019 with engagement from the Board of Management, stakeholders and staff, brings clarity to the association’s mission, vision, values, and goals.

Vision
Healthy and safe interior spaces that enhance the quality of life.

Mission
To advance, support, and promote interior designers and the profession, nationally and internationally.

Values
IDC is built on integrity, innovation, sustainability, inclusion and the belief in an ethical, accountable profession and a positive future for members, partners and stakeholders.

Strategic Goals
• Build the profile of interior design and advance the profession in innovative ways.
• Grow design partnerships.
• Develop a robust membership.

MEMBER PROJECTS

Annually, IDC’s Communications Team receives over 20 projects to be featured on social media channels with more than 30,000 followers across all platforms.

INTERNATIONAL MISSIONS

Every year, IDC members are invited to participate in international trade missions - from Europe to Southeast Asia.

These events provide members the opportunity to explore business ventures and forge new partnerships with interior designers and manufacturers across the globe.

2019-2020 Trade Missions

• MARMOMAC Verona, Italy (Sept. 25 - 28, 2019)
• HOST Milan, Italy (Oct. 18-22, 2019)
• HOMI Milan, Italy (Jan. 24-27, 2020)

Unfortunately, due to the global impact of COVID-19 some trade missions planned for 2020 were postponed, including:

• MIFF - Kuala Lumpur, Malaysia postponed until March 8-11, 2021
• SALONE DEL MOBILE Milan, Italy postponed until April 13-18, 2021
The 2019 Awards Gala, held at the Hyatt Regency in Vancouver, B.C. during IDC’s Design Symposium on Sept. 13, honoured outstanding IDC members, their work, and innovation within the interior design community.

The event celebrated winners of the Value of Design Awards (VODA), honoured IDC Fellows, recognized participants of the PROpel Emerging Leaders program, acknowledged IDC’s scholarships and bursaries, and honoured the inaugural winner of the Legacy Award for Distinguished Service.

IDC LEGACY AWARD FOR DISTINGUISHED SERVICE

IDC presented Glen Brewer, President, Midgley Tecnica, with the inaugural IDC Legacy Award for Distinguished Service. The recipient of this award exemplifies outstanding service and dedication to IDC and more broadly to the interior design community in Canada. The award honours the individuals, companies or institutions that are recognized as being trailblazers to the design community nationally.
VALUE OF DESIGN AWARDS

Last year, nine Canadian design firms from coast to coast were honoured at IDC’s second Value of Design Awards. The program was established to shine a spotlight on innovative work that pushes the interior design industry forward.

The 2019 Value of Design Awards were presented to the following winners who continue to push the boundaries of interior design. These designers have implemented an empathetic, inventive, and iterative process, focused on the human experience into their projects, creating sustainable and functional designs for the present and future.

As an organization, IDC is committed to ensuring that its board represents the interior design industry with respect to varying experience and cultural, age, and gender make-up that is representational of the membership and fibre of the Canadian population.

IDC’s Board of Management is comprised of elected members from across Canada who have an impact on the challenges affecting the interior design community. The board is governed by a set of by-laws that were enacted in October 2017, in addition to operational policies and procedures.

IDC’s board continually seeks opportunities for representation of Canada’s interior design profession and IDC members on a national and global platform.
