

Annie Bergeron
Design Director, Principal of Gensler

Annie Bergeron's work on technology, media, and financial services companies, has put her on the cutting edge of creative workplaces. As a Gensler Design Principal with over 25 years' experience, she develops inspiring thought leadership content, and guides teams in the creation of exceptional design solutions for projects of all sizes. A sought-after industry speaker, she has been featured in interviews on national media and publications.

Annie is the recipient of over 20 industry awards from key players in the real estate industry, demonstrating her design excellence and versatility. They include ARIDO, REmmy, GDEA, REX, NEOCON, VMSD, VODA, and the Ryerson Award of Recognition for Design Excellence granted by her alma mater. A dedicated student advocate, she has been volunteering her time leading design mentorship programs for the past two decades, with mentees going on to be recognized leaders in the field.

Gensler is a design firm with a global team of over 6,000 people shaping the future of cities every day. It starts with a simple vision: to create a better world through the power of design.