

Angela Stinson
Director, Strategic Projects
TELUS Spark

Angela Stinson is the Director of Strategic Projects at Telus Spark Science Centre in Calgary, Alberta. Angela holds a bachelor of interior design degree from Toronto Metropolitan University and has 15 years of design and project management experience working in real estate development and large-scale commercial interiors. Prior to joining Spark, Angela led the design and construction for the cross-Canada expansion of Canadian retailer, Simons. Her portfolio includes a number of award-winning projects with a focus on public facing spaces that incorporate sustainable design and renewable energy.